Respectfully offering acknowledgement to the Treaty 8 First Nations and the Sicannie (Sikanni), Slavey, Beaver (Dane-Zaa), Cree, Sauteau, Inuit, and Metis peoples and the opportunity to work, live and recreate on their respective Territories.

Dear Community,

Every year is a new beginning. It allows everyone a chance to reset and look forward to new and exciting endeavours. In early 2023 the Fort St. John and District Chamber of Commerce made various changes to help us better serve our members and our community.

In January, we announced that Kathleen Connolly would lead the Fort St. John and District Chamber of Commerce as our new CEO. Kathleen has been a fierce advocate for Northeast B.C. and has vast amounts of experience working with Chamber members to help build stronger businesses.

Our members have told us advocacy is a significant reason they support the Fort St. John and District Chamber of Commerce, and that's why in 2022, we increased our membership level with the B.C. Chamber of Commerce. This change will give us more facetime with Federal and Provincial decision-makers to tell the story of our members and the rest of Northeast B.C.

The Chamber also needs a strong relationship with local governments and Indigenous neighbours. Our organization meets every quarterly with Fort St. John City Council, and we are actively working to build even stronger relationships with the Indigenous communities of Northeast B.C.

Our goal has always been to work together to create a business community that can thrive in Fort St. John. In 2023, we hope to continue this strong tradition through our events, conferences and advocacy.

When we collaborate, learn from, and support each other, our community becomes an even better place to live. Join us and make 2023 our best year yet!

Sincerely,

Adam Reaburn,
President, 2023

Learn more about what we have to offer

fsjchamber.com

A warm hello,

We appreciate you taking the time to pick and read our publication about the Peace Country, Fort St. John and the Fort St. John and District Chamber of Commerce. We are appreciative of the time you take from your busy schedule to find out more about the region! What I can share is we are a strong bunch! We are dedicated, loyal, and incredibly supportive! Living in the North takes a special kind of person with often the same qualities it takes to own, run, and grow a business! Our community has seen and been through a lot due to the pandemic and the impacts on our business community - just as the global community has. In typical fashion the hardy northern stock doesn't dwell on the global challenges, but sees the future vision for growth, prosperity, and opportunities that present through adversity!

As I am new to this role, I have much to learn about the Energetic City but do know that we have the privilege of having a strong economy with continued potential for growth. I want to take a moment to offer acknowledgement to the Treaty 8 First Nations and the Sicannie (Sikanni), Slavey, Beaver (Dane-Zaa), Cree, Saulteau, Inuit, and Metis peoples and the opportunity to work, live and recreate on their respective Territories. Treaty 8 Nations commitment to preserve and protect our land, water, and wildlife ensure residents and visitors an opportunity to experience all the wonderful economic and recreational opportunities in our region.

The Fort St. John Chamber Board and Staff are so proud of the business community in the North and the strength they show as we work through the daily challenges of operating a business. The FSJ Chamber feels fortunate to play a part in helping businesses find the resources they need to continue another day! The office of the Chamber has an open-door policy to all of our business community and is committed to being present and create positive growth for our City and the residents who are committed to the Energetic City.

The Fort St John Chamber continues to offer monthly mixers, luncheons and intend to present our Creating Energy Conference and LNG golf tournament in September. We are also actively engaged with our community partners such as the City of Fort St John, Peace Liard Community Futures, our First Nations Community, and our business community. We welcome you to Fort St John and wish you a wonderful experience and hope to see you again.

Kind Regards,
Kathleen Connolly, Chief Executive Officer

2022 Chamber Champions

Chamber Champions are not only the backbone of the Chamber but they are the backbone of the community. These businesses often are seen at the forefront of community projects, non-profit organizations and initiatives to better our community.

The Chamber appreciates the support the Champions provide to the work we do and their leadership is so valuable to us as business advocates. Our reputation in the community is clearly supported by our partnerships with these well respected businesses.

Champions are featured at many of the Chambers events and activities and on our digital marketing throughout the year. Often our Chamber Champions are the first one in line to help us launch new initiatives and promotions. These companies know the impact the Chamber has in the community and are always willing to support us. It is their trust in the work we do that helps us continue to make a difference in our membership and the community.

We want to thank our Chamber Champions for being our greatest supporters!

UNITED FIRST NATIONS

AS LONG AS THE SUN SHINES, GRASS GROWS AND THE RIVERS FLOW.

Traditional Territory of the Dane-ᓵaa First Nation Peoples.

Fort St. John is located on the traditional territory of the Dane-ᓵaa First Nation peoples.

According to Dane-ᓵaa oral history, the Peace River is named for the settling of a conflict between the Dane-ᓵaa and the Cree. The Cree traditionally lived south and east of the Upper Peace River region. Due to their trade with settlers, they had guns and they pushed the Dane-ᓵaa northwest in the late 18th century. A peace treaty, negotiated in the late 1700s or early 1800s, stated that the Cree would live south of the Peace River, and the Dane-ᓵaa north. The Peace River, before and after its new name, marked a boundary zone, where groups met for trade, celebration, and settling of disputes.

Archaeological evidence at Charlie Lake Cave establishes that the area of Charlie Lake north of Fort St. John has been continuously occupied for 12,500 years by varying cultures of indigenous peoples.

The Dane-ᓵaa of Fort St. John took an adhesion to Treaty 8 in 1900. Today they continue to have a strong cultural and economic presence in the North Peace area.

The North Peace region is home to several First Nation communities:

- » Blueberry River First Nation
- » Doig River First Nation
- » Fort Nelson First Nation
- » Prophet River First Nation
- » Halfway River First Nation
- » Saulteau First Nation
- » West Moberly First Nations

The ethno-linguistic grouping within these eight First Nations includes Sicannie (Sikanni), Slavey, Beaver (Dane-ᓵaa), Cree, Saulteau and Dene.

On June 21, 1899, the eighth treaty between the Indigenous people of North America and the Queen of England was signed and would become known as the most comprehensive treaty in Canada. The signatories of Treaty No. 8 agreed to the oral promises made during these negotiations and understood them as a partnership based on peace and friendship, a partnership that would create certainty for both parties, “For as long as the sun shines, the grass grows and the rivers flow”.

The Treaty 8 Tribal Association was incorporated in 1982 under the BC Societies Act and currently represents six of the First Nations in Northeastern BC. The Treaty 8 Tribal Association acts as a coordinator, facilitator, and technical support on various issues as mandated from time to time by the Council of Treaty 8 Chiefs.

Message from your Mayor

Greetings to all visitors and residents of Fort St. John. I am excited to share all the fantastic things happening in our city. First, I want to acknowledge that we are on the traditional territory of the Dane-zaa, signatories of Treaty 8, and the Métis Nation BC Region 7. We recognize and value the significant contributions of Indigenous Peoples who have lived and worked on this land for time immemorial and are committed to meaningful reconciliation to build a future based on relationships and mutual respect.

Last fall, a new council was elected to represent our city. We are excited to work together to continue to support our business community and maintain our friendly small-town feel while providing big-city amenities. Our city boasts many unique local shops as well as national chains, and we are proud to have many independent businesses that are part of the Love Fort St. John shop local program. You can find these local gems at lovefortstjohn.com.

Fort St. John is a winter city, and we take pride in celebrating our winters! Our annual High on Ice Winter Festival, featuring ice carvings and dozens of community events, is a highlight of the season. We also have multiple outdoor ice surfaces and nearby cross-country ski trails for everyone to enjoy. The Peace Region is known for its remarkable outdoor adventure and natural beauty; endless recreational opportunities are available nearby. Boating and fishing possibilities on rivers and lakes are only minutes from town, and the local golf course is just a few blocks from downtown, with two more just a short drive away. We have over 20 community parks and over 70 km of walking trails maintained year-round. In addition, hiking, mountain biking, and snowshoeing trails can be found in town and the vast provincial parks nearby.

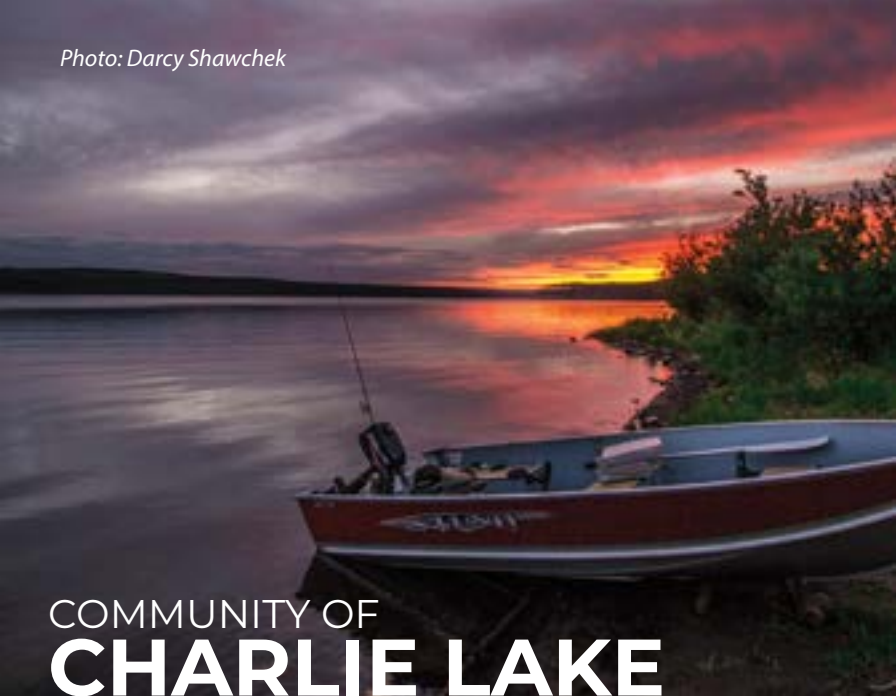

If organized sports are your game, we have some first-class recreation facilities. The Pomeroy Sport Centre has two ice rinks, an indoor speed skating oval (one of only four in North America), and an indoor rubber running track. Our recreation campus is also home to the North Peace Leisure Pool, with a six-lane, 25-metre lap pool, leisure pool, and two waterslides; an indoor fieldhouse for soccer, rugby, and lacrosse; an additional ice rink; and a curling rink.

The city is undergoing exciting changes to revitalize our downtown with the 100 Street redevelopment project. This project includes enhanced pedestrian safety, improved public landscaping, and upgraded underground infrastructure. Additionally, the newly constructed Festival Plaza is a jewel for our community to gather and celebrate during festivals, markets, and events.

We invite you to visit our city and experience the natural beauty, vibrant culture, and warm hospitality that make Fort St. John a special place to call home.

COMMUNITY OF CHARLIE LAKE

Nine kilometres northwest of Fort St. John on the Alaska Highway, the community of Charlie Lake is home to approximately 2,250 people. There are almost 22,000 people within 20 km of Charlie Lake.

Housing options include residential subdivisions, trailer parks, lake front properties and rural residential farms. Many beautiful country residences surround the lake and the area has an affluent population.

Most of the business sector of Charlie Lake is situated on the south side of the lake along Highway 97 with a school, church, gas station, campgrounds and some residences. All other services are accessible nearby in Fort St. John.

Boat Launch, RV Park & Memorial
This is the main access area for residents of Charlie Lake. The boat launch, dock and parking lot make this a busy place in the summer.

The Pub & Local Market
Enjoy tasty chef created food at this charming historic venue. Don't miss the many events and markets on the shores of Charlie Lake.

Lakepoint Golf & Country Club
Lake Point Golf & Country Club is a beautiful 18 hole Championship Golf Course, located on the shores of Charlie Lake.

Beatton Provincial Park
This 320 hectare park is a popular destination for swimming, fishing and hiking. In the winter, experience over 15km of groomed cross-country ski trails.

DISTRICT OF TAYLOR

The District of Taylor is perfectly positioned amidst urban amenities and rural charm; Nestled on the fertile banks of the Peace River and along the Alaska Highway corridor, Taylor (historic Mile 36) is just 56 kilometres north of Dawson Creek and 18 kilometres south of Fort St. John. – and within the beautiful areas of the Peace River Regional District.

Peace Island Park
Nestled on the banks of the mighty and majestic Peace River, Peace Island Park has over 100 campsites. Explore the several hiking trails in the park that will provide gorgeous vistas. Travel back in time and discover the historic Rocky Mountain Forts, dedicated to the original North West Company Fort.

Gold Panning Days
The World Invitational Gold Panning Championships take place during August long weekend at Peace Island Park. This 3 day event begins with a parade on Friday evening, and then commences with live entertainment. Saturday and Sunday are filled with both fun and competitive events, including a pancake breakfast, claimstaking, metal detecting, juvenile, amateur, semi professional, and professional gold panning, as well as many more activities. In addition, join the Saturday evening chilli dinner, followed by the much anticipated bannock baking competition.

Despite its small (but growing) population of 1469 people, Taylor's development has always kept the interests and needs of the Peace region in mind.

Taylor history is widely celebrated throughout the community, with the Rocky Mountain Forts and a self-guided walking tour that showcases its early years.

Taylor Raceway
The race track features room for four to eight cars per class, and people of all ages, starting from 16 and onwards, race in friendly and competitive races! This is the perfect spot for an evening of fun and racing in Taylor.

Lone Wolf Golf Course
The 18 hole, par 72 course features fairways that are well protected by bunkers and fescued rough. A tough test of skill at 7,141 yards from the back tees. The relaxed atmosphere makes every summer golfing day enjoyable.

Tse'k'wa ("rock house" in Dane-zaa/Beaver language) is an important cultural site for the Dane-zaa people, dating back more than 12,500 years. Formerly known as the Charlie Lake Cave, it is now recognized as a National Historic Site for its cultural and archaeological significance. The site is owned and managed by the Tse'k'wa Heritage Society, a non-profit organization that is a collaboration of three First Nations: Doig River, Prophet River and West Moberly First Nations. Their shared vision is to share Dane-zaa culture, language, and heritage.

The Society is currently transforming the site to welcome the public. Recent improvements include an interpretive trail to the cave, open air amphitheater, accessible picnic tables and outhouses, and an archaeology dome. Indoor interpretive experiences are planned for the future. The Society's goal is to create a world-class museum and interpretive centre connecting the past, present, and future. While development is still underway, the site is opening to self-guided outdoor visitors in June 2023.

Tse'k'wa Heritage Society invites you to enter a gathering space used by the Dane-zaa since the time of the wǫlǫi nachǫi (giant animals). Our cultural programming and public events will bring you on an exciting journey of shared history that builds respect for our land's First Peoples. Visit our new website and follow Tse'k'wa Heritage Society on Facebook to be the first to hear about opportunities offered.

DISTRICT OF HUDSON'S HOPE

Hudson's Hope is a charming small town located in the heart of the Peace River Valley, 90km west of Fort St. John. Surrounded by stunning natural scenery, Hudson's Hope is a popular destination for outdoor enthusiasts, nature lovers, and history buffs.

Hudson's Hope offers visitors a variety of outdoor activities, including hiking, biking, fishing, and wildlife watching. Be sure to make your first stop the Visitor Centre, where you can get copies of the Hudson's Hope Trail Map Brochures.

One of the main attractions in Hudson's Hope is the W.A.C. Bennett Dam, located just a short drive from the town center. The dam is one of the largest in North America and offers visitors the opportunity to learn about hydroelectric power generation and the history of the region. Visitors can also enjoy fishing, boating, and hiking in the area around the dam.

Another popular attraction in Hudson's Hope is the Hudson's Hope Museum, which showcases the history and culture of the town and the surrounding region. The museum features exhibits on the fur trade, the construction of the W.A.C. Bennett Dam, and the wildlife.

HUDSON'S HOPE SOLAR ENERGY

The District of Hudson's Hope is leading the way when it comes to municipal-scale solar power. As BC's largest municipal solar project, the District of Hudson's Hope electrical bills will go down, down, down.

The Hudson's Hope District Office has a 53 kW solar array which will provide about 80% of its electrical needs. The Bullhead Mountain Curling Club, has a 72 kW solar array providing 100% of its electrical needs.

525 kilowatts of grid-tied solar were installed on the roofs of nine Hudson's Hope municipal buildings, including their curling rink, their arena, District Office, public works shop and Visitor Information Centre.

Several of the buildings outfitted with solar are electrically "net zero" meaning the solar array produces all the power the building needs each year, reducing the cost of electricity for that building to almost zero.

The District of Hudson's Hope received a $1.35 million grant from the Strategic Priorities Fund/Federal Gas Tax Fund through the Union of BC Municipalities for their solar project.

Peace Energy Renewable Energy Cooperative and Moch Electric Ltd., both experienced solar designers and installers based in nearby Dawson Creek, were selected to build the solar power systems.

WHERE THE GEARS OF COMMERCE TURN

Learn more about the industries that power our region.

OIL & GAS

Oil & Gas continues to be an economic driver in the region despite the challenges.

The Montney Formation is rich in natural gas liquids, like ethane, propane, and butane, which makes investment in the exploration, extraction and processing of the region's natural gas more economically viable.

Significant direct employment opportunities are a considerable benefit from natural gas development.

HYDROELECTRIC

The hydroelectric industry is a significant part of the energy sector in the Peace Region.

Our area is home to several hydroelectric projects, including the W.A.C. Bennett Dam, the Peace Canyon Dam, and the Site C Dam.

These projects provide clean and renewable energy to British Columbia and support the province's commitment to reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

More on page 25

WIND POWER

Wind-generated power is a growing industry in the Peace Region.

The region's location, in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, offers ideal conditions for wind power generation, with strong and consistent winds blowing across the area.

Several wind farms have been built in the region, with a combined capacity of over 400 MW, providing clean and renewable energy to the region and beyond.

More on page 26

FORESTRY

The forestry sector remains an important part of the economy in the Peace Region of British Columbia.

The region is home to vast forests of spruce, pine, and fir, and the industry employs thousands of people in the area.

The forestry sector in the Peace Region includes logging, sawmills, pulp mills, and other related industries. Timber harvested in the region is used to produce a wide range of products, including lumber, pulp, paper, and wood pellets.

AGRICULTURE

The agriculture sector includes prairie crops of wheat, barley, canola and forage seed production.

North Peace farms enjoy the advantages of low land prices and low cost of production.

As the only prairie in British Columbia, it also is home to the province's grain and oil seed industries, and is the most northerly agricultural area of Canada.

More on page 29

TOURISM

Sustainable tourism counts not just for travellers, but for tourism destinations and local residents.

Over 320,000 travel the Alaska Highway between May and September.

Our region is also home to a number of cultural and historical attractions, such as the Tse'k'wa National Heritage Site and UNESCO Global Geopark, which showcase the rich history and culture of the area.

More on page 30

Known as the "Energetic City" Fort St. John is the service and support centre for the province's oil and natural gas industry.

Today, hundreds of large and small pipelines, well site construction, trucking and seismic companies are at work in the region providing crucial support to a demanding industry.

In the past organizations such as Energy Services BC (ESBC) have ensured that the needs of the service sector are heard throughout the province, and are providing a framework, to strengthen the entire sector. In February 2017, Energy Services BC announced the merger with the Independent Contractors and Businesses Association of BC. Energy Services BC has a long history in Northeastern BC. The Independent Contractors and Businesses Association of BC has been the voice of BC’s construction industry for over 40 years, and is the oldest open shop organization in Canada.

Support is also provided at a government level. The industry’s regulatory body, the British Columbia Energy Regulator (Previously the BC Oil and Gas Commission) is headquartered in Fort St. John. The BCER is responsible for regulating oil and gas and geothermal operations in British Columbia. The BCER protects public safety and safeguards the environment through the sound regulation of oil, gas and geothermal activities in BC.

The petroleum industry has had a lengthy history in British Columbia. Exploration for oil began at the turn of the last century. It wasn’t until the 1950’s that development of natural gas began in the northeast of the province. When the first gas pipeline was completed from the Peace River District to Vancouver in 1957, gas began to flow south for both domestic and export consumption.

From exploration through to final reclamation, the BCER works closely with First Nations, land owners and rights holders, and ensures industry complies with provincial legislation. With more than 20 years’ dedicated service, the regulator is committed to safe and responsible energy resource management for British Columbia.

Within BC, activity and production is predominantly located within the Montney formation stretching from the Alberta border near Dawson Creek to approximately 150 kilometres north and west of Fort St. John. The Montney remains the dominant play for provincial drilling activity, production and reserves growth.

As the resource potential of these areas continues to grow and industry shifts from land acquisition to gas extraction, expanded infrastructure will be required for development, production, processing and transportation of natural gas.

Directional and horizontal drilling and multi-well pads used in unconventional gas development are reducing the footprints of new developments as they provide opportunities for enhanced planning and shared surface structures.

FOR OUR ENVIRONMENT
COLLABORATIVE OIL AND GAS RESTORATION ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Collaborative Oil and Gas Restoration Advisory Committee is developing inclusive and culturally relevant approaches for restoration of oil and gas sites. Working together has many benefits including sharing knowledge, experience, diverse perspectives, the power of common vision for change, and so much more.

The committee operates in northeast B.C. and members include representatives from Blueberry River First Nations, Doig River First Nation, Fort Nelson First Nation, Halfway River First Nation, McLeod Lake Indian Band, Prophet River First Nation, Saulteau First Nation, West Moberly First Nations, and the Commission.

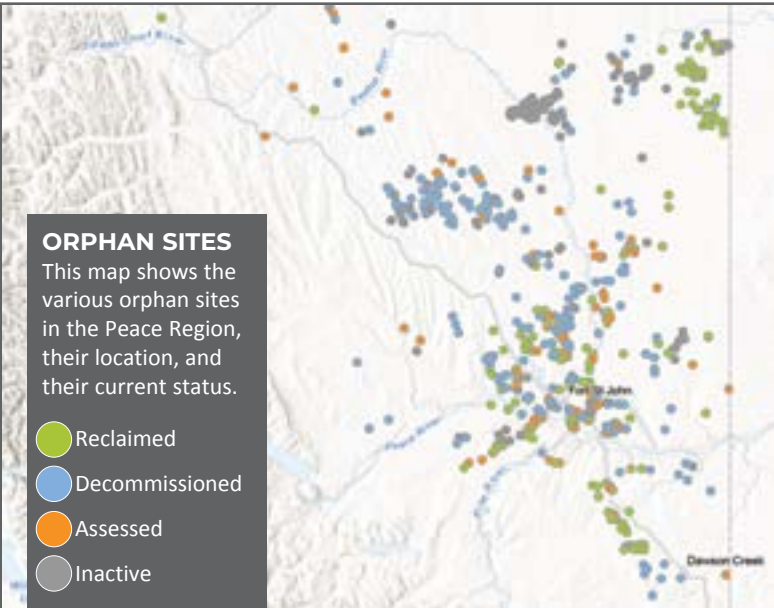

They envision: “Landscape restoration that meets levels of ecological health necessary to support and sustain the restoration of treaty rights, including the ability to carry out Indigenous ways of life in the territories traditionally relied upon, as well as ensuring that restored ecological health is protected for our future generations to ensure cultural continuity.”

The committee has been working together for two years and continue to accomplish so much. There have been two workshops so far: one for engagement on the first draft of the Ecologically Suitable Species Guideline and another for Ecological Restoration that focused on sharing perspectives from the oil and gas industry, restoration practitioners and committee members.

Their growing list of accomplishments includes:

- Engagement and feedback on the draft Ecologically Suitable Species Guideline.
- Updates and feedback on the PNG Legacy Sites Restoration Program.
- Preliminary conversations on developing a GIS-based mapping tool for reclamation/restoration related data.
- Updates on Commission restoration programs including the Restoration Framework, Orphan Sites Reclamation Fund Program, and Liability Management.
- Regulatory engagement and updates on the Dormancy and Shutdown Regulation.
- Updates and collaboration on ideas for the Indigenous Education Program.

The Farmers Information Service (FIS) is now available to help farmers and landowners in the Peace River Regional District navigate their interactions with the oil and gas industry, with the objective of a positive outcome for all parties involved.

The FIS provides information at no charge to help landowners manage the challenges they experience while working with oil and gas development and to help them protect their interests while accessing opportunities that come from such development. The FIS helps farmers and landowners understand the regulatory aspects of the oil and gas industry and know their rights when working with resource companies. The FIS is also available as support to prepare for meetings with companies and to refer landowners to professional services when appropriate.

BECOMES THE →

NEW NAME, NEW BOARD, EXPANDED MANDATE

The Province has improved transparency in oversight and governance of the energy resource sector through a more modern, inclusive and larger board for its energy regulator.

“As the energy sector evolves, it’s vital that we ensure its regulation reflects the values and expectations of a modern industry and of British Columbians. I want to thank existing and new board members for guiding the regulator into the future,” said Josie Osborne, Minister of Energy, Mines and Low Carbon Innovation. “Emerging energy sectors, such as hydrogen, geothermal and carbon capture, will generate economic opportunities and help B.C. reduce emissions and transition to clean energy. Increasing the size and diversity of the board of directors improves inclusion and better reflects the expanded energy resource mandate.”

Other key changes include an official name change from the BC Oil and Gas Commission to the British Columbia Energy Regulator to better align with its expanded role of regulating the life cycle of oil, gas and hydrogen industries within B.C.

In addition, the board will now consist of five to seven directors and be required to include Indigenous representation. Previously, there were three directors and a number of independent board consultants who assisted the board in its oversight responsibilities.

“I look forward to working with all of the new and existing board members and to support all British Columbians within the role,” said Chris Hayman, board chair, British Columbia Energy Regulator board. “I am excited to build upon the important work the life-cycle energy regulator does and I believe these new changes will create more clarity for industry while moving toward a lower-emissions future for British Columbians.”

The new board members are Natascha Kiernan and Ken Cameron, who will be on two-year terms, as well as Sharon Singh and Kevin Brewster, who are appointed for one-year terms. Hayman, who will be on a two-year term, has been appointed chair.

Existing board members are Shannon Baskerville, who will be on a two-year term, and Patrick Kelly, who will continue his current term.

To underscore the board’s independence from the management team, the chief executive officer will no longer serve as a member.

Quick Facts:

- In fall 2022, B.C. passed the Energy Statutes Amendment Act, which added responsibility for hydrogen, methanol, ammonia, carbon capture and underground storage, and geothermal to the previously named BC Oil and Gas Commission’s responsibilities.
- The legislation created a regulatory framework for hydrogen development in British Columbia.
- It also ensured a more comprehensive consultation and engagement approach with First Nations.
- The regulator will officially take on responsibility for hydrogen oversight this year.

LIQUIFIED NATURAL GAS

This is one of the most talked-about topics in the province and the nation.

Many companies see the potential of exports from BC to Asia and multiple investors across the natural gas sector have expressed interest in developing LNG facilities on BC's northwest coast.

Natural gas liquids (NGLs) are plentiful in the Montney Shale Gas Play. These include ethane, butane, propane, condensate, and light oil. The availability of these liquids increase the economic viability associated with the exploration, extraction and processing of the region's natural gas resource.

The Asian market is expected to grow by a third in the next 3-5 years and energy consumption is projected to continue to increase beyond 65 Bcf/d. Demand growth is dominated by China and India, making up 55% and 12% of 2020 demand, respectively. The price for natural gas is much more competitive in Asia than North America so the new market creates an opportunity for Canadian natural gas producers.

Liquefied natural gas (LNG) is natural gas (predominantly methane, CH4) that has been converted to liquid form, by cooling to -160C, for ease of storage or transport. Liquefied natural gas takes up about 1/600th the volume of natural gas in the gaseous state. It is odourless, colourless, non-toxic and non-corrosive. Hazards include flammability after vaporization into a gaseous state, freezing and asphyxia. A typical LNG process: The gas is first extracted and transported to a processing plant where it is purified by removing any condensates such as water, oil, mud, as well as other gases such as CO2, H2S, and other natural gas liquids including ethane, butane, and propane. An LNG process train will also typically be designed to remove trace amounts of mercury from the gas stream to prevent mercury amalgamizing with aluminium in the cryogenic heat exchangers. The gas is then transported, normally by pipeline due to volume, to an LNG facility. The gas is then cooled down in stages until it is liquefied. LNG is finally stored in storage tanks and can be loaded and shipped via ship, train or truck.

LNG achieves a higher reduction in volume than compressed natural gas (CNG) so that the /volumetric/ energy density of LNG is 2.4 times greater than that of CNG or 60 percent of that of diesel fuel. This makes LNG cost efficient to transport over long distances where pipelines do not exist. Specially designed cryogenic sea vessels (LNG carriers) or cryogenic road tankers are used for its transport.

Natural gas and oil supply chain spend in 2022 was $337 million in Vancouver, making it the municipality with the fourth-largest spend after Fort St. John, Dawson Creek and Pouce Coupe.

Why Natural Gas?

- Generates about half the greenhouse gas emissions as coal
- Affordable, abundant and reliable
- Can meet the world's growing energy needs

Liquefied natural gas (LNG) is natural gas cooled to under 160 degrees Celsius so it can be shipped in liquid form to markets overseas.

Canada's Natural Advantages

Why will Canadian LNG have lower emissions than other sources?

- Upstream natural gas has produced sustainably: for example, with less emissions-producing flaring and venting than many other countries.
- Canada's colder climate means less energy needed to cool the natural gas
- West Coast facilities are close to Asian markets, so fewer transportation associated emissions
- Upstream production and proposed LNG plants can reduce emissions further using clean electricity for power.

HYDROELECTRIC

The hydroelectric industry is a significant part of the energy sector in the Peace Region. Our area is home to several hydroelectric projects, including the W.A.C. Bennett Dam, the Peace Canyon Dam, and the Site C Dam. These projects provide clean and renewable energy to British Columbia and support the province's commitment to reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

The W.A.C. Bennett Dam, located on the Peace River, is one of the largest hydroelectric dams in North America, with a generating capacity of 2,730 megawatts. The dam has been in operation since 1968 and has provided clean and renewable energy to British Columbia for over 50 years. The Peace Canyon Dam, located downstream from the W.A.C. Bennett Dam, has a generating capacity of 695 megawatts and has been in operation since 1980.

The Site C Dam, currently under construction on the Peace River, is expected to provide clean and renewable energy to British Columbia for over a century once it is completed. The dam will have a generating capacity of 1,100 megawatts and will be able to power approximately 450,000 homes per year.

Overall, the hydroelectric industry is an important part of the energy sector in the Peace Region of Northeastern British Columbia. Many believe that as the region continues to grow and develop, the hydroelectric industry will play an important role in meeting the energy needs of the province while balancing environmental and community concerns.

BC HYDRO SITE 'C' DAM

As of Dec 31, 2022, overall Project health remained “amber.” The Project is approximately 72% complete; and work continues to advance; however, there are still potential risks remaining. BC Hydro continues to review, assess, mitigate, manage and monitor potential risks to the Project.

The Project is currently on schedule to achieve the approved 2025 in-service date and is approximately 72% complete. BC Hydro and Site C contractors have agreed to revised schedules, which recover certain schedule delays due to COVID-19 and provide three potential schedule scenarios for tunnel conversion and reservoir fill including the potential for an earlier in-service date. All potential schedule scenarios include risks and uncertainty; the scenario that potentially results in an earlier in-service date has a higher level of uncertainty and risk. Significant construction activities remain, which if not completed on time, could adversely affect the construction schedule.

The quality rating for the Project remained “green” as of December 31, 2022, indicating that the work generally conforms to the requirements of the drawings and specifications.

WIND

Four large wind facilities are now in full operation.

The Bear Mountain Wind Park is an electricity generating wind farm facility located near Dawson Creek. It is owned by Bear Mountain Wind LP and began operations in November, 2009. BC's first operating wind farm has a generating capacity of 102 megawatts.

Meikle Wind near Tumbler Ridge is a 180 MW wind energy generation project with 61 GE wind turbines. The project has the annual energy capacity equal to the needs of approximately 54,000 British Columbian homes.

The Dokie Ridge Wind Farm is a wind farm located near Chetwynd. It was put into commercial operation in 2011. The facility has a generating capacity of 144 megawatts and is producing 320 to 340 gigawatt-hours of energy per year.

Capital Power's 142 megawatt (MW) Quality Wind facility located near Tumbler Ridge, began commercial operation on November 6, 2012, on time and under budget. The project involved the installation of 79 Vestas V90 and V100 wind turbines, which will each produce 1.8 MW of power. The project will generate enough clean electricity to meet the average annual needs of about 43,000 homes.

These are all Independent power producer projects, feeding clean wind power into the BC grid under contract with BC Hydro. The future of the wind industry in the Peace is bright, with over 10,000 MW of wind energy potential waiting for development.

FORESTRY

Forestry is an integral part of the region's economy. Local participants work together to contribute to a globally competitive forest sector—one that is a model for the world in product innovation, technological advances and environmental care, while supporting skilled jobs and a thriving community.

The 4.673 million hectares of the Fort St. John timber supply area (TSA) include a wide array of tree species that vary from spruce and lodgepole pine to balsam poplar and paper birch.

The majority of the timber harvested from the TSA is processed by Canfor's state-of-the-art Fort St. John sawmill operation, which has an annual production volume of 300 million board feet. As a random lengths operation, it manufactures premium dimensional 2' x 4' to 2' x 10' lumber to lengths of 20 feet. Through Canfor Energy North Ltd., a joint venture partnership, the company also operates Fort St. John Pellet, which enhances the utilization of sawmill residuals by producing sustainable biomass pellets, thereby reducing waste and creating a green energy source. The company's Peace River Woodlands group employs forest professionals who practice world-class sustainable forestry and, through innovative solutions and collaborative partnerships, work to maintain resilient, productive and biodiverse forests.

The considerable deciduous tree component in the region's forests sustains another operation, Peace Valley OSB, which has a production capacity of around 750 million square feet.

Indigenous communities throughout the region are vital to the forest products industry – as owners, business and stewardship partners and employees.

Opportunities for business investment lie in the following areas:

- Timber harvesting & processing, silviculture
- Value-added manufacturing
- Biomass

TRADES TRAINING

Industry-driven Training Through Consultation

Northern Lights College has been offering Trades and Apprenticeship training for more than 40 years. Students in their programs receive high quality instruction, great service, and a solid foundation on which to build their career in the trades.

Foundation Trades Training

If you are new to a trade area, or do not have an employer sponsor, NLC Foundation programs provide you the knowledge and training you need to find employment.

Apprenticeship Training

Do you have an employer willing to sponsor you as a registered Apprentice? You can start and complete all levels of Apprenticeship training at NLC in your chosen trade.

Technical/Vocational Trades Training

NLC offers several trades training programs that have been developed in conjunction with industry and training partners to meet the current needs of industry, so that you can step directly into the workplace.

AGRICULTURE

The North Peace is considered a prairie region and Canada's most northern agricultural region.

The North Peace agriculture industry provides strong potential for business investment, job creation, economic growth and rural development. North Peace farms enjoy the advantages of low land prices and low cost of production. As the only prairie in British Columbia, it also is home to the province's grain and oil seed industries.

Local availability of high quality feed grains help make livestock production in the North Peace particularly competitive. Livestock production includes traditional beef and dairy cattle, sheep, hogs, goats and horses, with a growing diversification into game farming of bison, reindeer and exotic livestock, including llama, alpaca, fox, ostrich, emu and wild boar.

An increasing number of farms are now producing certified organic beef, bison, poultry, hogs, eggs, wheat, barley, herbs, hay, oil seeds, peas, as well as table and seed potatoes. Exceptional soils in the Peace River Valley grow fantastic vegetables, including a number of different types of melons.

TOURISM

Sustainable tourism counts not just for travellers, but for tourism destinations and local residents.

Observations from visitor centre staff suggest that our visitation is primarily the touring market.

Over 320,000 travel the Alaska Highway between May and September. These travellers spend $56 per person per day and spend about 20 days in the Alaska Highway region (5.3 days in Northern BC, 5.4 days in the Yukon and 9.2 days in Alaska).

These travellers represent about $350 million in spending for the Alaska Highway region.

TUMBLER RIDGE GLOBAL GEOPARK

WHAT IS A GEOPARK?

Geoparks are specially designated places that are recognized for their international geological significance by UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organizations). Our 34 accessible geosites include mountain peaks, alpine meadows, glaciers, canyons, waterfalls, incredible vistas, caves and karst formations, and dinosaur trackways and fossils. Significant new discoveries are found every year!

Unlike national or provincial parks, UNESCO Global Geoparks do not have additional restrictions outside of established laws on activities like resource extraction, hunting, or motorized recreation. Within our Geopark you will find everything from renewable energy wind farms, metallurgical coal mines and forestry operations to hiking trails, ATV and snowmobile terrain, river boating, snowshoe and cross country skiing trails, rock and ice climbing, and horseback riding trails.

Our mission is to honour the geological, cultural and environmental character of our Geopark, to enhance the well-being of our people through education, engagement and sustainable development. We also celebrate stories of people and place.

Tumbler Ridge UNESCO Global Geopark is one of only five Geoparks in Canada, and the only one located in western North America.

FROM THE WORLD, TO THE PEACE REGION

SOURCED FROM ABROAD & ROASTED HERE IN FSJ

It started with an idea shared by three friends here in the Peace Region. Maybe it was the snow, the gin, or the fact that they wanted a side project, but Hell's Half Acre Coffee Company is now a staple in Fort St. John.

They work with international brokers to source the finest Fairtrade organic coffee beans from around the world. Those beans are then roasted right here in northeastern BC. Hell's Half Acre Coffee is now known throughout the region, and can be found online and in stores like Butcher Block and Save On Foods - as far west as Burns Lake, BC.

They hope to continue to grow, with the end goal of being large enough to approach organic coffee farmers directly to choose their own beans for roasting.

The Hell's Half Acre founders re-stocking the shelves at Butcher Block in Fort St. John, British Columbia.

Hell's Half Acre Coffee continues their successful Fund-raising Program to simultaneously support local organizations and help increase their reach. Participants can sell Hell's Half Acre Coffee with no overhead costs and earn money for every bag of coffee sold. The program consistently shows great success and paves the way for the future.

PLAY EXPLORE BE ACTIVE

The North Peace is located amongst the wide-open spaces, big skies, and gently carved river valleys of the Peace River Country.

The Peace Region has limitless opportunities for outdoor recreation. The Peace River Regional District (PRRD) operates five regional parks within the Regional District.

Hike the trails at the Fort St. John Fish Creek Community Forest, spot a variety of water birds at Charlie Lake during the spring migration period, boat and fish the area's vast network of waterways and lakes.

The nearest rivers including, the Peace, Beatton, Moberly and Pine Rivers are great for boating, fishing and other water activities. Sweeping fields provide beautiful summer drives in the country, where ripe yellow canola and other seed crops grow.

Wander out to Montney Centennial Regional Park that is located at the northeast end of Charlie Lake, providing a rustic campground with a picnic area, a camping area, and access to the water that is off the beaten track. The park is free for public use. PRRD parks are generally open from May to September.

In addition to amazing hiking, bird watching, camping, and golfing, the region offers easy access to great ATVing. Ride on local ATV trails including Johnston Creek near Taylor. Bike paved trails around Fort St. John (also suited to leisurely strolls), or ride along quiet country roads that meander through agricultural lands and spectacular river valleys.

In winter, stick to cross-country ski trails at Beatton Provincial Park, or carve a new path along the area's flat prairie land. Snowmobiling at Redfern-Keily Provincial Park (250km/155mi northwest Fort St. John) in the Rocky Mountains is another great winter option – sledgers can even wilderness camp overnight.

The City of Fort St. John contains more than 260 hectares of outdoor spaces.

Fish Creek Community Forest
City of Fort St. John

Fort St. John is a great place to visit and play, and offers a uniquely rich concentration of cultural activities and outdoor adventures. Fort St. John offers top-notch recreation facilities and being “The Energetic City”, has hundreds of events taking place every year that entertain people of all ages and interests.

With a population of 21,000 and growing with the city itself, Fort St. John is the largest city in Northeastern BC. Fort St. John is not only the largest city in the Northeast Region of BC; it is also the largest city in British Columbia situated along the world-famous Alaska Highway. If you are driving the highway, we invite you to stop in and explore all that Fort St. John has to offer. You won't be disappointed!

Fort St. John is “The Energetic City” for good reason. The title reflects not only our large resource base of oil, natural gas, forestry and agriculture, but also the vitality of our residents who are, on average, 8.8 years younger than the average population in the rest of the province. Modern day pioneers continue to bring a fresh spirit of exploration, innovation and connection to community within our city.

Here, you can spend less time commuting and less money on housing, and more time on recreation and really living it up. The average house price is under $400k and a two-bedroom apartment can be rented for less than $1,000 a month. Our standard of living is high: The median household income is $107,091

YOUR ARTS & CULTURE HUB NORTH PEACE CULTURAL CENTRE

10015 100th Avenue

In the Heart of the City, the North Peace Cultural Centre brings life to the community through the presentation of performance, visual, and literary arts. Come experience it for yourself.

The North Peace Cultural Centre is the place to go to discover the heartbeat of the Arts in the city. With a fully renovated 400 seat proscenium theatre with new seating, carpeting, led lighting, and drapery, attending a concert, dance show, or theatre performance is an experience to be sure.

The Cultural Centre offers monthly free art class, Let's Art for children ages 6-12 and for teens ages 12-18. With assistance from local artists the Gallery also hosts workshops and classes covering a variety of mediums and disciplines.

The Centre's Out-of-School program runs year round with arts-focused activities to stimulate and entertain your school aged children before and after school as well as full days on NID days, Spring Break and through the summer holidays. With high quality care, certified instructors offer encouragement and inspiration to the children as they grow into well-rounded people.

On the other end of the building is Peace Gallery North, where you can experience the wide variety of the visual arts within our community. From monthly exhibits showcased in the gallery space to a diverse selection of art pieces from local artists, you will find exactly the artwork you will love to display to friends and family. From paintings to pottery and everything in between, local art abounds at the Gallery.

And for the literary arts, you can always check out what the Fort St. John Public Library has to offer. From the latest mystery novel, to reference books, and digital options for your favourite e-reader, new worlds open to you with your library card.

ARTS & CULTURE FOR THE LITTLE ONES

LEISURE WITH LEARNING

All ages are involved in on-going programs in painting, pottery, music, dance, fabric art and more. Starting as early as three years old, children have a myriad of creative opportunities. The preschool and after-school programs at the North Peace Cultural Centre are open to all children from toddlers to teens.

Community studios and arts groups offer pottery, and dance instruction in the winter and summer. Artspost Studios, and private arts studios enroll hundreds of children in dance, music, pottery and multicultural classes. The Fort St. John North Peace Museum has fun and educational programs for exploring local history.

Learning about arts, cultural and heritage are important elements in developing explorative minds and building personal confidence, as well as, instilling pride in the community.

SHOW YOUR MOVES

WE'VE GOT RHYTHM

Many national, international and world champions in a wide selection of types of dance come from Fort St. John. Hundreds of young dancers are registered with professional dance studios for ballet, jazz, tap, musical theatre and more. One of the many dance troops selects dancers from as far away as Grande Prairie to make up their regional dance organization.

Multi-cultural dance is popular along with the classic country Square Dance and Country Line Dancing. Fort St. John is very proud of the internationally-renowned Irish Dance competitors and the ballet and jazz dancers who go on to careers in dance.

CLASSIC & CONTEMPORARY MUSIC & FILM

Toe tapping classic music is played and sung by the young and the not-so-young in Fort St. John. The Northern Winds Community Band and the School District #60 Bands provide instrumental lessons and performance opportunities.

The Northern Lights Community Choir and the Youth Choir perform to sold out crowds in the North Peace Cultural Centre theatre. Band, violin, piano and other instrumentalist take part in the long-standing annual North Peace Performing Arts Festival where excellence is applauded. Many move on to the provincial level competitions.

Touring bands attract large audiences at the Lido Theatre, a restored historic movie theatre now a nightclub setting. It has the perfect cabaret setting rock bands, local entertainment and comedy.

The film society features Monday Night at the Movies of the TIFF Film Circuit providing residents the opportunity to see the more classic contemporary films. The Landmark Aurora Cinemas bring in the latest commercial releases to showing in their 5 theatres located in the Totem Mall.

Shopping local means giving back to charities in your community.

75 percent of small business owners donate some portion of their profits - about six percent on average - to charitable organizations each year. So every time you shop local, a portion of your dollars may also be donated to a local charity.

NORTH PEACE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

& THE FORT ST. JOHN NORTH PEACE MUSEUM

As Canada's centennial and British Columbia's centennial approached, a group of North Peace residents interested in preserving local history met and formed the North Peace Historical Society (NPHS) in 1963. This group of volunteers worked to collect artefacts and begin a museum. After small temporary displays around town, the NPHS purchased the H-building (a barracks from the construction of the Alaska Highway) from the school board and moved it to Peace Island Park. The Museum in Peace Island Park opened on May 26, 1968.

Despite struggles with funding, staffing, vandalism, and theft, volunteers and a caretaker (later a curator) operated the museum in Peace Island Park until the early 1980s. During this time, members of the NPHS also worked to collect local history and publish it.

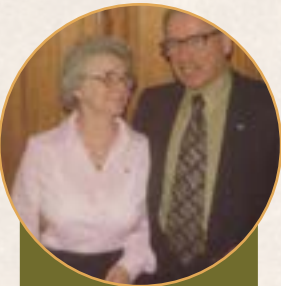

In the late 1970s, several interested groups including the Fort St. John & District Chamber of Commerce, the Fort St. John Petroleum Association, and the NPHS began to meet to discuss the concept of an oil and gas museum in Fort St. John. This concept was deemed to be too narrow and it was expanded to be a museum to cover the entire history of Fort St. John and the North Peace. Exhibits would be changed over time to attract return visitors and the main focus would be on the collection, preservation, research, and exhibition of artifacts and archival documents.

The NPHS put on an Alaska Highway Museum in Fort St. John in partnership with Northern Lights College for the highway's 40th anniversary. It showcased the appeal of a museum in town along with the need and space to collect items that were loaned for this temporary display.

Celebrating 60 Years of Preserving and Presenting the North Peace

The newly built Fort St. John North Peace Museum was well received, but the NPHS struggled with secure funding and to raise money to expand the museum. It wasn't until 2009 that the NPHS had the funds to expand the museum for display space, storage, offices, etc. Between 1984 and 2022, the NPHS has moved, restored, and developed exhibits for four historic buildings.

Today, the NPHS' collection is made up of over 27,000 artifacts, documents, photographs, and textiles. The NPHS puts on over 25 events in an average year, continues to develop new exhibits for the museum and around town, and shares the history of Fort St. John and area through numerous educational initiatives. The NPHS is currently working towards installing solar panels on the museum and hiring a full-time second staff member.

Expansion Phase I – a 50 x 60-foot addition to the back of the museum (new exhibit space, receiving room, & expanded collections storage) as well as Phase II (kitchen, offices, and stockroom) are complete after decades of fundraising.

North Peace Cemetery Seekers finish documenting cemeteries of the North Peace and donate their work to the Fort St. John North Peace Museum.

The Chamber of Commerce helped to publicize the need for an in-town museum. Throughout the early 1980s, the NPHS raised enough money to build a new museum in a severe economic recession thanks to the help of the community and several grants. Under the leadership of Ivan Strome, the Chamber helped erect a derrick at the site of the new museum. Without a curator in 1983-84, NPHS volunteers designed and installed exhibits with help of Katamavik student volunteers. The Fort St. John – North Peace Museum opened in its current location on February 16, 1984. The Chamber of Commerce had its office in the museum until 1990.

NORTH PEACE EDUCATION

Public Schools

The Peace River North School District is committed to providing quality education to its students. A student population of over 6,100 is served by 24 schools of varying sizes: everything from a two room country school house to an ultra modern senior secondary school with over 900 students. The District is able to offer a comprehensive range of academic options including Community Fine Arts, French Immersion and Distance Education Schools. The District also offers an Open Learning program for parents who wish to be more active in providing education to their own children.

Post Secondary

Northern Lights College (NLC) is BC's Energy College™, serving northern British Columbia in an area covering more than 324,000 km<sup>2</sup> and has campus locations in Chetwynd, Dawson Creek, Fort Nelson, Fort St. John, and Tumbler Ridge, along with access centres in Atlin, Dease Lake and Hudson's Hope. The University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) serves the northern two-thirds of BC with core campuses located in Prince George, Terrace, Quesnel, and Fort St. John.

Private Schooling

Fort St. John has private school options for parents looking at alternative education opportunities. Explore the Christian Life Centre or PenFSJ Christian Academy to learn more.

Home Schooling

Fort St. John offers various options and opportunities for parents home schooling their children. The North Peace Home Educators Association is a volunteer run support group for home schooling families in and around the Fort St. John area. The BC Home Educators association offers compressive lists of organizations and support groups related to home schooling in BC.

A LIVELY SENIOR COMMUNITY

The Fort St. John Senior Citizen's Association runs the Seniors Centre which enables seniors to socialize and have fun. Regular activities take place every week and include a variety of card games, floor curling, carpet bowling, table tennis and pool.

The volunteer membership hosts an affordable and nutritious luncheon - everyone is always welcome at the Seniors Centre and you don't have to be a senior to partake in the socialization, games and luncheons.

The volunteer association supports themselves by holding their bingo night on Wednesday nights and by renting out their hall for private functions or public events. Their medium-sized rental facility has tables, chairs, a kitchen, a stage, wheelchair accessible washroom, a mic speaker system and ample public parking.

The Fort St. John Senior Citizen's Association is governed by a volunteer board of directors and has been in operation for many decades. The association has over 90 members with 40 members regularly attending weekly events and functions at the centre.

The camaraderie of the group and being part of a mix of people who genuinely look forward to seeing one another is one of the great benefits of joining the Fort St. John Senior Citizen's Association.

The volunteer board of directors are pleased that they are here for seniors and they have noticed more residents choosing to stay and retire locally. As well, there appears to be an influx of seniors choosing to move to Fort St. John because their children are employed here and their grandchildren are here as well. There are other services for seniors in the community in addition to the active seniors' citizen's association including handyDart transportation services and housing options for seniors.

The Fort St. John Senior Citizen's Association is well supported by the community from neighbouring businesses offering a helping hand, to an active support network with the municipality. The Fort St. John & District Chamber of Commerce and even the local radio and television stations show their support to the association.

The Fort St. John Senior Citizen's Association volunteer board of directors is very thankful to the community of Fort St. John for their ongoing support and most importantly, to their wonderful members who contribute so much to every event and function.

North Peace Seniors Housing Society

The NPSHS is a charitable, non-profit housing society that has been providing affordable housing and support services for senior citizens of Fort St. John and area since 1966.

The Society currently owns and manages four buildings containing 144 self-contained units, 100 of which are apartments for low and moderate income seniors. The remaining 44 are supportive living units for seniors, which include 2 meals per day, 7 days a week.

They partner with many other organizations in order to provide help to seniors. The Better At Home Program provides local seniors with light housekeeping services, laundry services, wellness checks, hygiene support and emergency COVID supports in order to enjoy their independence longer. Better At Home is funded by the United Way of BC and generous donors, so services are subsidized to be affordable.

NORTH PEACE HEALTH & WELLNESS

Northern Health offers services in over two dozen communities through 50 facilities and locations. The population of these communities ranges from a few hundred people to over 80,000 people.

Health Care Services

Health care services are managed by the Northeast Health Service Delivery Area of Northern Health. Residents in the North Peace of the Peace Region are served by staff that work both within and out of several health care facilities that include the Fort St. John Hospital and Peace Villa Long-term Care Facility, Fort St. John Health Unit, Mental Health and Substance Use program and the Hudson’s Hope Health Centre, with services ranging from hospital to long term care to community services that include public health, home community care, mental health and substance use, harm reduction, and other programs and supports.

Fort St. John Hospital

The Fort St. John Hospital and Peace Villa celebrated their 10th anniversary in 2022, as the first full hospital replacement of this size in the north. It provides area residents with state-of-the-art acute care facilities and an expanded new long-term care facility for local seniors and individuals with complex care needs. The hospital is approximately 23,353 square metres and includes 55 acute care beds. Health care services at the Fort St. John Hospital include: an expanded emergency room and ambulatory care department; larger-sized and number of operating rooms; endoscopy suite within the surgical department; Birthing Centre includes Labour, Delivery, Recovery and Post-partum room all within single patient rooms; the majority of patient rooms are single Inpatient Rooms and there is an academic space for the Northern Medical Program and the NH Simulation Lab. The hospital also includes an array of services such as laboratory services that include the NE pathology and microbiology departments, full range of radiology including NE Nuclear Medicine, ultrasound, CT scan and a MRI.

Peace Villa Long-Term Care Facility

Attached to the Fort St. John Hospital is the 124 bed Peace Villa Long-Term Care Facility. Recreation programming that is engaging the residents with and in the community is on the rise, a thriving junior volunteer program is connecting generations together, and a sense of home is being built to support the residents not only physically, but mentally and emotionally.

Community Health Services and more

Northern Health offers a wide variety of community health services, ranging from mental health and substance use services and supports, to home support and respite services, community nutrition and dietitian services and community rehabilitation services. Population and Public Health services include immunizations, communicable disease prevention and control, and harm reduction services, among many others. And Environmental Health Officers safeguard the well-being of both the public and the environment by educating people about public health issues, monitoring and inspecting regulated facilities and enforcing health legislation.

The Regional Hospital District contributes the regional share of capital costs toward major health care construction projects and minor capital and equipment purchases, of providing approved health care facilities, and other grants in the region.

North Peace Division of Family Practice represents private practice family physicians of Fort St. John and Hudson’s Hope with an office in Fort St. John. Together, the members work to improve patient access to local primary care, increase local physicians’ influence on health care delivery and policy, and provide professional support for physicians.

The Division gives local physicians an opportunity to work collaboratively with Northern Health, the GPSC, and the Ministry of Health to identify health care needs in the community and develop solutions to meet those needs.

The Division’s work has resulted in improved access to family physicians as well as changed how appointments are booked within physician offices; formerly most appointments had to be pre-booked in advance however this changed to having some pre-scheduled appointments along with a number of same day appointments - so that if you wake up in the morning and you or your child is sick then you are more easily able to get in to see your/a doctor in your clinic that day which can be more responsive to patient’s health care needs.

Fort St. John and area residents can also call the Northern Health Virtual Primary and Community Care Clinic which provides services to people who don’t have a family doctor or nurse practitioner, people who need care on weekends after their health centre is closed, or who are unable to travel for care due to seasonal weather. (You’re encouraged to call your family doctor or nurse practitioner first, when possible). The Virtual Clinic also provides support for mental health and substance use. Patients can call the Virtual Clinic at 1-844-645-7811, to access a family doctor or nurse practitioner 10 am to 10 pm daily PST (including weekends and statutory holidays).

Supporting Health Services

Fort St. John is also home to a number of private community health services including dental clinics, optometry, physiotherapy clinics, pharmacists, first aid training centres, private ambulance and first aid services.

Partners in Health Care

The support and contributions of many more organizations continue to have a significant positive impact on healthcare in our region. Here are just a few:

Fort St. John Child Development Centre

The Child Development Centre supports children, families, and communities in an inclusive environment through innovative programs and services. Their purpose is to aid children with special needs and assist with early childhood education. They specialize in physiotherapy, speech-language pathology, occupational therapy, family services, respite/ skills, and integrated infant and preschool development programs.

Fort St. John Hospital Foundation

The Fort St. John Hospital Foundation in partnership with community members, local business and corporations, supports the hospital and Peace Villa long-term care facility with the purchase of state-of-the-art medical equipment and more, through the generosity of its donors and supporters. Ensuring our hospital has access to the best medical equipment the Foundation reduces the need to travel out of the region for medical treatment. Each gift made to the Fort St. John Hospital Foundation is an investment in the future of health care for you and your family.

The Fort St. John Hospital Auxiliary

provides gift shop services as well as receives donations from the community to purchase medical equipment and more. A significant amount of the art work throughout the Fort St. John Hospital and Peace Villa (i.e. pictures, benches etc) are thanks to the generosity of Auxiliary volunteers and their supporters.
